Original Commandos Patches

Do you go commando? As it turns out, roughly six percent (or 6.5 million!) American women go without underwear on a regular basis in order to avoid dreaded visible panty lines or simply because they find it more comfortable.

For those of you who go without, these soft cotton disposable patches will give you the protection you need. Specifically designed to securely adhere within the curved seam of jeans, pants or shorts, they offer a comfortable, hygienic barrier to protect women and their garments.
